Communist Kidnaping Continuing

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist terror campaign mounted sharply today. Meanwhile, the U.S. Command reported three more U.S. planes shot down over North Vietnam, raising losses in the North to 22 in the past 11 days.

The major Red campaign to terrorize voters before Sunday's presidential and senatorial elections was taking place in the politically sensitive five northern provinces. Fragmentary reports said guerrillas kidnaped no less than 200 people there in the past few days—about 65 of them early today.

A strong band of guerrillas entered Kim Nam hamlet a few miles from Da Nang, awakened the villagers and herded off most of the males including the village chief.

South Vietnamese authorities reported it likely that the kidnaped villagers were being held as hostages to ensure that their relatives boycotted the election according to Viet Cong instructions. Similar kidnappings have been reported in at least three other northern villages, and authorities fear that more are unreported.

Communist gunners inside and above the demilitarized zone dividing Vietnam were harassing U.S. Marine positions with repeated mortar and artillery attacks evidently designed to emphasize Red strength during election time.

A least four Americans were killed and 57 were wounded. The Americans countered with radar-directed fire on Red gun positions, jet assaults on positions that were spotted and B52 strikes Thursday night and this morning on suspected enemy strongholds.

Other Communist attacks dotted the nation, particularly in the populous Mekong Delta. Three villages were hit by mortars early today, and the guerrillas were reportedly deploying numerous small units to disrupt traffic on Highway 4, the main road from Saigon south into the delta.

U.S. Command reported the guerrillas early today tried to trick a U.S. Navy patrol boat into firing on a friendly village. The guerrillas opened up on the boat from within the village and then fled. The Navy boat did not return the fire, authorities said.

North of Saigon, guerrillas blew up several small bridges on one of the larger roads about 20 miles above the city. U.S. engineers immediately started repairs and hoped to have traffic restored before Sunday.

Butler Commissioners Clashing with Sheriff

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The Butler County commissioners meet today to discuss the threatened resignation of Sheriff James F. Hixon and his deputies, who want more money for their work.

The 53-year-old sheriff said Thursday he and 33 deputies would resign unless the commissioners met their demands for pay raises and additional holiday pay. The deputies' pay now starts at $6,000 a year and Hixon said this is lower than the scale in surrounding counties.

U.S., Soviets in New Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union, possibly fearing the United States seeks to spy on a major Soviet nuclear test site, has touched off a diplomatic battle by banning passage of two American icebreakers through an Arctic strait.

The Soviet action drew a strong U.S. protest Thursday. But Washington canceled the planned Arctic excursion while claiming the Soviet blockade violated international sea law.

A State Department spokesman said the icebreakers Edisto and East Wind, ostensibly on the first leg of a scientific mission to circle the Arctic, were denied Soviet permission to pass Being constructed as an initial step in establishing a bonafide shopping center in Pickaway County, the Mart will be erected near the Kroger Store on Route 22 east.

Scheduled for opening ceremonies in the spring of 1968, Lochner said the Buckeye Mart will be the first unit and center of a complex shopping center designed to serve Circleville and Pickaway County residents.

Officials of the Cussins and Fearn Co. met Friday morning at the proposed site to finalize plans for ground-breaking ceremonies in the near future. Developers from Butt and Roth

State Fair Attendance Over Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Herb Alpert and his Tijuana Brass spark today's Toledo Day at the Ohio State Fair, which has entertained over one million visitors since Aug. 24.

Fair officials said attendance Thursday was 97,399, an increase of 6,000 over the eighth day of last year.

This year's eight-day attendance of 1,027,843 is running behind last year's 1,093,197, but the 1966 figure included an advance sales count. Officials predict this year's mark will surpass 1.8 million.

A Catholic nun took the spotlight Thursday when she became the 1,000,000th visitor to the fair. Sister Rose Elizabeth, a grammar school teacher at St. Raphael School in Springfield, entered the gates shortly before noon.

The weatherman is casting a favorable eye on fairgoers this weekend, predicting cool, sunny weather with little rain.

Reagan Plan For Tuition Is Rejected

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has lost by a 2-1 margin his long battle to have the state Board of Regents impose tuition at California's universities.

But he claims victory today "on principle."

After a two-day meeting, the California Board of Regents agreed to allow a special committee to determine new student payments at an unspecified date.

Reagan said a number of the regents apparently had been "hung up" over the word tuition.

By a 14-7 vote, with two abstentions, the regents rejected Reagan's proposed annual tuition after he had suggested $250 per student. Reagan proposed lowering this to $200 before the regents agreed on a general new "charge."

The amount of the charge and when it goes into effect were left blank to be filled in at subsequent regent meetings.

Negroes Jeer King Speech At Convention

CHICAGO (AP) — Some 50 noisy, jeering Black Power advocates competed for the crowd's attention Thursday night as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. keynoted the National Conference for New Politics.

King was critical of the "tragic adventure in Vietnam" in a speech during which there were repeated outbursts from the Negroes in the back of the hall. The hall holds 5,000 persons and was nearly full.

Earlier in the day, about 50 of more than 500 Negro delegates and observers to the 4 1/2-day convention staged a boycott. The dissident accused convention planners of "paternalism" and said there had not been enough participation by Negroes in convention planning.

They said they would begin their own "black people's" convention in a South Side church tonight, taking "Black Power — black politics — black revolution" for a theme. H. Rap Brown, leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was to address the splinter group.

The rest of the Negro delegates said they would stay in the convention, which aims to provide a forum for left-wing opinion and advocates of peace and civil rights. Most delegates, white and black, favor some form of Black Power. Many of them would like to see Dr. King (Continued on Page 2)

U.S. Steel Snubs Plea, Hikes Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., rejecting a Johnson administration plea for price restraint, has ordered its third steel price increase within a month.

Just hours after Gardner Ackley, the President's top economic advisor, sent telegrams Thursday to steel producers asking them to hold off on further price boosts, U. S. Steel raised the price of its bar products 1.8 per cent.

The firm is the nation's top steel producer.

The increase, effective Monday, was identical to one announced Wednesday by Republic Steel Corp., the No. 3 producer. The increases, covering 16 per cent of industry-wide shipments, amount to $3 and $4 a ton on various bar products.

Steel bars are used in a variety of end products, ranging from industrial fasteners to railroad car axles. Other major steel producers had no comment on Ackley's telegram, but said they were studying the new price hikes. But if the industry's price pattern holds, it can be expected to follow suit within the week.

OU Asks Release Of Funds for Campus Theater

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio University asked the State Controlling Board today to release $3,467,617 in capital improvement money for construction of an educational and television theater, costing about $4,071,899.

The funds in addition to capital improvement money were federal, $389,278; university funds, $116,628, and money on hand from previous allocations $102,376.

The university also requested the board to approve transfer of $639,664 from the improvement, equipment and contingency fund to the library fund to help pay for construction.

Another $199,732 was asked to be transferred from the same improvement - contingency fund to help pay for Phase 1 of the physical science complex.

New Tax Rates Now in Effect; Schools Aided

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state tax on cigarettes, Food—unless eaten in a restaurant—is still exempt from the sales tax, but beer and cigarettes are now off the exempt list.

Gov. James A. Rhodes signed at 12:01 a.m. today the recently passed bill that raises several state taxes and guarantees schools an additional $300.8 million for the current biennium, ending June 30, 1969.

"This legislation . . . has been lauded by our educators in both large and small districts as the most far-reaching improvement in education in the history of the state," Rhodes said in signing the bill. "This legislation coupled with the regular appropriation will earmark for education $1,247,502,536, or almost 53 per cent of our entire general fund," he said at the signing ceremony attended by about 40 backers of the measure, including legislators, educators and Ohio Education Association officials.

The most noticeable tax increases are a jump from 3 per cent to 4 per cent in the state sales tax and an increase from 5 cents to 7 cents per pack in the state tax on cigarettes. Food—unless eaten in a restaurant—is still exempt from the sales tax, but beer and cigarettes are now off the exempt list.

Another bill signed by the governor was the one permitting municipalities and townships to levy up to a 3 per cent tax on motel and hotel bills.

The corporate franchise tax, on the net worth of companies, goes from 3 mills to 4 mills.

The extra money for education will be shared by all levels, from elementary schools to colleges. Some $15 million will help buy books and other items for parochial schools. Teachers' salaries in public schools will go up at least $400 a year.

Rhodes signed out Sen. Oliver Ocaszek of Northfield for special praise at the bill-signing ceremony. He said Ocaszek, a strong backer and one of the few Democrats to vote for the bill, "rose above partisanship."

Ocaszek told Rhodes that he considered the bill a fulfillment of the Rhodes' administration's pledge to give the schools No. 1 priority.

"I salute you as a man dedicated to the improvement of education in Ohio," Ocaszek told Rhodes.

Legislative leaders signed 37 acts and an apportionment resolution Thursday at skeleton sessions of the House and Senate. Some of the measures were scheduled to be signed by the governor today and Saturday.

Another skeleton session next Friday will send about 100 more bills on to Rhodes' office, and the legislature has scheduled (Continued on Page 2)

Labor Day Weather Dry, Warm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Generally dry and possibly warmer weather is the outlook for the nation on its Labor Day weekend.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said that although record low temperatures were set in many cities during August a change to warmer weather appeared in sight at least for the first few days of September.

There is a chance of showers in some sections.

In the Pacific Northwest, scorched by abnormally high temperatures and virtually no rain along with forest fires in many sections, there appeared a possibility of some relief from the heat. But the outlook for relief from the prolonged heat wave looked dim in most other areas, including Southern California, Western Montana, Western Idaho and the Southwest desert region.

The mercury has been in the 90s and above 100 degrees in most of the hot belt. Thursday's high marks included 103 at Los Angeles and 100 at Spokane, Wash.

No-Escalation Stand Taken By Mansfield

WASHINGTON (AP)—A panel of investigating senators pressed for a major intensification of the air war against North Vietnam — but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says the bombing already is "close to the point of saturation in terms of rational purpose."

"There is a strong suggestion, moreover," said Mansfield, "that to go much further would be meaningless except in the context of the barbarism of total war on the entire civilian population—a bombing back into the stone age."

The demand of the Senate military preparedness subcommittee for a bombing stepup the Communist port of Haiphong added an angry new dimension to congressional debate on the Vietnam war.

Mansfield answered the Thursday report in advance with a strongly worded defense of the policy pursued by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and President Johnson.

He said later in an interview he stood by that Senate speech as his answer to the pressure for more bombing—and to criticism of McNamara studying the subcommittee report.

The Pentagon said it would have no comment on the report hastened into print by the panel which concluded Tuesday a three-week investigation of administration policy in the air war.

One of its key passages: "The subcommittee is of the opinion that we cannot, in good conscience, ask our ground forces to continue their fight in South Vietnam unless we are prepared to press the air war in the North in the most effective way possible. This requires closing the port of Haiphong, isolating it from the rest of the country, striking all meaningful targets with a military significance, and increasing the interdiction of the lines of communication from Red China."

Aged Cardinals May Be Quitting

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Rumors spread in the Vatican today that all of the aged cardinals of the Curia—central government of the Roman Catholic Church—would submit their resignations by the end of the year.

The rumors said the Curia's archconservative, 76-year-old, half-blind Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, had offered to quit on Thursday but that Pope Paul asked him to stay on "for the time being." According to the rumors the resignations would involve Curia cardinals past 75. This would clear the way for the Jan. 1 start of the Pope's sweeping reorganization to make the Curia more efficient and modern.

'They Stood And Watched'

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Miss Ann Marie Davenport, 20, a red-haired practical nurse, was walking home from St. Francis Xavier Cabrini Hospital when it happened.

She was only a block from her home. Half a dozen people were close by and countless of motorists were passing, despite the midnight hour.

Then there was this young, muscular-looking youth, about 20, she explained Thursday.

"He was walking unusually close to the side of the building—the side my purse was on. He walked past me. Then I heard footsteps behind me. "He knocked me over the curb and I fell in the street with my purse underneath me."

"I screamed. The people all turned around. But they just stood there looking."

"He screamed: 'Gimme the purse!' You better gimme the purse!"

"He kicked me in the side and then in the stomach, trying to wrest the purse away from me. I kept yelling I didn't have any money, hoping he would give up."

people just stood there and watched. They didn't do anything. They didn't even ask me if I was hurt. They just turned and walked away."

"They were like 20 many animals watching the survival of the fittest. If you don't make it, it's just too bad."

"I went home and called the police. The police just shrugged their shoulders when I told them. They said: 'You can't expect people to help you anymore.'"

Anyway, Miss Davenport still had her purse.

125 Arrested In Milwaukee Rights March

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Police engulfed a line of 400 civil rights marchers Thursday night backing a 30-day ban on street demonstrations. At least 125 persons were arrested, including a white Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. James Groppi.

Two persons were injured. There were indications that another march might be staged tonight.

"They can never get all of us," said one Negro nearly in tears after police scattered the marchers.

It was the second straight night in which police cracked down on an attempted demonstration by the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Fifty-eight persons were arrested Wednesday night.

A police car was burned and its windshield smashed soon after the dispersal of Thursday night's march. Also among those arrested was Mrs. Vel Phillips, Milwaukee's only Negro member of the Milwaukee Common Council.

In the Pacific Northwest, scorched by abnormally high temperatures and virtually no rain along with forest fires in many sections, there appeared a possibility of some relief from the heat. But the outlook for relief from the prolonged heat wave looked dim in most other areas, including Southern California, Western Montana, Western Idaho and the Southwest desert region.

The mercury has been in the 90s and above 100 degrees in most of the hot belt. Thursday's high marks included 103 at Los Angeles and 100 at Spokane, Wash.

No-Escalation Stand Taken By Mansfield

WASHINGTON (AP)—A panel of investigating senators pressed for a major intensification of the air war against North Vietnam — but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says the bombing already is "close to the point of saturation in terms of rational purpose."

"There is a strong suggestion, moreover," said Mansfield, "that to go much further would be meaningless except in the context of the barbarism of total war on the entire civilian population—a bombing back into the stone age."

The demand of the Senate military preparedness subcommittee for a bombing stepup the Communist port of Haiphong added an angry new dimension to congressional debate on the Vietnam war.

Mansfield answered the Thursday report in advance with a strongly worded defense of the policy pursued by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and President Johnson. He said later in an interview he stood by that Senate speech as his answer to the pressure for more bombing—and to criticism of McNamara studding the subcommittee report.

The Pentagon said it would have no comment on the report hastened into print by the panel which concluded Tuesday a three-week investigation of administration policy in the air war.

One of its key passages: "The subcommittee is of the opinion that we cannot, in good conscience, ask our ground forces to continue their fight in South Vietnam unless we are prepared to press the air war in the North in the most effective way possible. This requires closing the port of Haiphong, isolating it from the rest of the country, striking all meaningful targets with a military significance, and increasing the interdiction of the lines of communication from Red China."

Aged Cardinals May Be Quitting

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Rumors spread in the Vatican today that all of the aged cardinals of the Curia—central government of the Roman Catholic Church—would submit their resignations by the end of the year.

The rumors said the Curia's archconservative, 76-year-old, half-blind Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, had offered to quit on Thursday but that Pope Paul asked him to stay on "for the time being." According to the rumors the resignations would involve Curia cardinals past 75. This would clear the way for the Jan. 1 start of the Pope's sweeping reorganization to make the Curia more efficient and modern.

'They Stood And Watched'

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Miss Ann Marie Davenport, 20, a red-haired practical nurse, was walking home from St. Francis Xavier Cabrini Hospital when it happened.

She was only a block from her home. Half a dozen people were close by and countless of motorists were passing, despite the midnight hour.

Then there was this young, muscular-looking youth, about 20, she explained Thursday.

"He was walking unusually close to the side of the building—the side my purse was on. He walked past me. Then I heard footsteps behind me.

"He knocked me over the curb and I fell in the street with my purse underneath me.

"I screamed. The people all turned around. But they just stood there looking.

"He screamed: 'Gimme the purse! You better gimme the purse!'

"He kicked me in the side and then in the stomach, trying to wrest the purse away from me. I kept yelling I didn't have any money, hoping he would give up.

"Even after he ran away, the people just stood there and watched. They didn't do anything. They didn't even ask me if I was hurt. They just turned and walked away.

"They were like so many animals watching the survival of the fittest. If you don't make it, it's just too bad.

"I went home and called the police. The police just shrugged their shoulders when I told them. They said: 'You can't expect people to help you anymore.'"

Anyway, Miss Davenport still had her purse.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — A national program to bring jobs and jobless people together through the use of computers and modern communication has been proposed by the Republican Party.

The GOP's Coordinating Committee says a national job opportunity survey would collect data on job market conditions, unfilled jobs, developing job needs, and regional and local job patterns and skills.

This information would be distributed by a national communications system, utilizing computer technology, to vocational counselors, placement personnel, the armed services, labor unions and business firms.

Many of the unemployed, the report said, lack necessary skills. The first step, it said, is to learn what skills modern industry needs most.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is deliberately causing sonic booms over the nation's largest cities as a "public relations play" to prepare the public for supersonic transport flights, says Rep. Thomas M. Rees.

Sonic boom tests are being conducted over Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, San Francisco, St. Louis and Indianapolis, the California Democrat said.

He said 564 damage complaints have been filed in Los Angeles alone, and declared that "under the guise of military necessity, the Air Force apparently is deliberating creating sonic booms to condition the public to accept supersonic noise and damage as a way of life."

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We just talked," said the 20-year-old Oklahoma girl of her conversation with President Johnson. "We didn't make any earth-shaking statements."

The talk between Jane Ann Jayroe, who happens to be Miss America, and the President was about the 70-day trip she and five state queens from the Miss America contest made to Vietnam.

Sex, Drugs In Agenda For Students

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Broward County's public schools have brought the subjects of sex, drugs and alcohol into open classroom discussion, and Rep. Paul Rogers believes it should be done nationally.

Rogers, a Florida Democrat whose congressional district includes Broward, said in Washington "Teen-age Alert" has been an unqualified success.

"They didn't take the old tack of threatening or simply preaching that these things were bad," Rogers said.

"The idea is that if the student is informed properly about the dangers, he can better make a decision of whether the use of drugs or alcohol is worth the consequences."

Rogers said such a program could be made national in scope, but it "will only be successful in the cities and counties where they realize the problems of their teen-agers and want to respond."

Teen-age Alert began in Broward junior and senior schools this week as part of the regularly scheduled courses.

Taught primarily by two specialists in the field of youth health and emotions, the program will draw on a volunteer list of 50 physicians and several attorneys as teachers for special classes.

Wilbur Marshall, director of secondary education, said parents were given an opportunity to withdraw their children from the classes. Initially, he said, the classes will be divided by sex when subject material is "on sexual anatomy or other topics of intimate nature."

Romney Goofs, Loses Grandson At State Fair

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney took six of his grandchildren to the state fair Thursday—and then there were only five.

Toward the end of his fair visit, the governor stopped to pose for photographers with his daughters' children.

He counted heads: "one, two, three, four, five..."

A frantic search turned up Billy Keenan, 4, some 25 minutes later. Billy, clutching a balloon tightly, was wandering calmly by the dairy barn.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Keenan of suburban Birmingham. She is the former Lynn Romney.

Greenfield Men Get Long Terms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two Greenfield brothers were sentenced to prison Thursday for their part in the Feb. 21 holdup of the Frankfort, Ross County, branch of the Citizens National Bank of Chillicothe.

U.S. District Court Judge Joseph Kinneary sentenced Kenneth Eugene Dorman, 40, to 20 years imprisonment. He sentenced Dorman's 42-year-old brother, Charles Robert, to 15 years.

The Dorman men were convicted of helping Edson Nolan, also of Greenfield, in the robbery. Nolan was convicted of the same charge, but escaped from jail here and has not been apprehended.

necessary, take the risks that have to be taken, and apply the force that is required to see the job through," the report said.

It acknowledged these risks include the possibility of conflict with Communist China or the Soviet Union.

But the panel, advocating action against Haiphong, said that possibility "does not justify the Secretary (McNamara) in taking the position that closing or neutralizing this vital port is unimportant from a military standpoint, a position which he entirely at odds with the unanimous judgment of all of our military experts."

Mansfield praised McNamara and said "attacks on the integrity" of the Pentagon chief are in reality attacks on President Johnson.

Mansfield said McNamara's position is sound, and noted the defense secretary had declared the bombing or mining of Haiphong would not stop the infiltration of Communist troops and supplies into the South.

The subcommittee said, "All military witnesses stated that the closure, neutralization or isolation of the Port of Haiphong was the single most important thing which could be done in North Vietnam from a military standpoint. They felt this measure...would have a substantial impact on the course of the war and the American and allied casualties in the South."

Signing the unanimous report along with Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., were Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former secretary of the Air Force; Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.; Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., an Air Force Reserve major general; Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.; Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine; Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., an Air Force Reserve major general; and Jack Miller, R-Iowa, an Air Force Reserve brigadier general.

LBJ Fearing Power of Voters-Vail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Newspaper publisher Thomas Vail told Ohio State University graduates today he believes President Johnson is counting on the Vietnam elections to produce a government which will begin peace negotiations "and take President Johnson off the hook for the 1968 presidential elections."

Describing the President as a "brilliant political animal with an 'organic' feel for the mood of the electorate," Vail indicated that Johnson is sensitive to changes in public sentiment concerning Vietnam.

"Growing disenchantment with the U.S. commitment in Vietnam is reflected in shifts of position by former strong supporters of the President on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, including Sen. Lausche."

Vail said a national poll last week showed a "sharp drop in support for the war, although few will say now we should withdraw without negotiation."

King's speech concentrated on the Vietnam war and lack of attention to the problems of cities and Negroes in the nation.

"If the will of the people continues to be unheeded, all men of good will must create a situation in which the 1967-68 elections are made a referendum on the war," he said. "The American people must have an opportunity to vote into oblivion those who cannot detach themselves from militarism."

necessary, take the risks that have to be taken, and apply the force that is required to see the job through," the report said.

It acknowledged these risks include the possibility of conflict with Communist China or the Soviet Union.

But the panel, advocating action against Haiphong, said that possibility "does not justify the Secretary (McNamara) in taking the position that closing or neutralizing this vital port is unimportant from a military standpoint, a position which is entirely at odds with the unanimous judgment of all of our military experts."

Mansfield praised McNamara and said "attacks on the integrity" of the Pentagon chief are in reality attacks on President Johnson.

Mansfield said McNamara's position is sound, and noted the defense secretary had declared the bombing or mining of Haiphong would not stop the infiltration of Communist troops and supplies into the South.

The subcommittee said, "All military witnesses stated that the closure, neutralization or isolation of the Port of Haiphong was the single most important thing which could be done in North Vietnam from a military standpoint. They felt this measure...would have a substantial impact on the course of the war and the American and allied casualties in the South."

Signing the unanimous report along with Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., were Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former secretary of the Air Force; Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.; Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., an Air Force Reserve major general; Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.; Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine; Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., an Air Force Reserve major general; and Jack Miller, R-Iowa, an Air Force Reserve brigadier general.

Sex, Drugs In Agenda For Students

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Broward County's public schools have brought the subjects of sex, drugs and alcohol into open classroom discussion, and Rep. Paul Rogers believes it should be done nationally.

Rogers, a Florida Democrat whose congressional district includes Broward, said in Washington "Teen-age Alert" has been an unqualified success.

"They didn't take the old tack of threatening or simply preaching that these things were bad," Rogers said.

"The idea is that if the student is informed properly about the dangers, he can better make a decision of whether the use of drugs or alcohol is worth the consequences."

Rogers said such a program could be made national in scope, but it "will only be successful in the cities and counties where they realize the problems of their teen-agers and want to respond."

Teen-age Alert began in Broward junior and senior schools this week as part of the regularly scheduled courses.

Taught primarily by two specialists in the field of youth health and emotions, the program will draw on a volunteer list of 50 physicians and several attorneys as teachers for special classes.

Wilbur Marshall, director of secondary education, said parents were given an opportunity to withdraw their children from the classes. Initially, he said, the classes will be divided by sex when subject material is "on sexual anatomy or other topics of intimate nature."

Romney Goofs, Loses Grandson At State Fair

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan Gov. George Romney took six of his grandchildren to the state fair Thursday—and then there were only five.

Toward the end of his fair visit, the governor stopped to pose for photographers with his daughters' children.

He counted heads: "one, two, three, four, five..."

A frantic search turned up Billy Keenan, 4, some 25 minutes later. Billy, clutching a balloon tightly, was wandering calmly by the dairy barn.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Keenan of suburban Birmingham. She is the former Lynn Romney.

Small Yugoslavian Town Specializes in Marriage

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A spring whose water is said to increase men's potency has brought boom times to the once sleepy Bosnian town of Kladanj.

The hotel is packed. A nearby hunting lodge, rooms in private homes and local enterprises are enjoying unprecedented prosperity from the influx of visitors, many from abroad.

Ilustrovana Politika, Belgrade weekly, described the prosperity.

An array of tents has sprung up near the spring on Mt. Konjuh, 10 miles from the town.

One enthusiastic inhabitant erected a signpost near a gas station read "Sex Town." It was removed next day.

Reuf Hasic, director of the Town Council's communal services, is quoted as saying: "I am not ashamed to state that I have become personally convinced that the water from the spring returns virility to men. We shall make a scientific research of the water and publish the results."

A reporter from the magazine saw a letter sent by a Slovenian woman thanking Hasic for hospitality shown to her and her husband on a visit to the town. She said the water from the spring had saved their marriage.

"I have received at least a score of similar letters," says Hasic. But he adds: "Exaggerated rumors are bringing us trouble. They provoke distrust with sober people."

The apportionment measure—in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment—will be on the November ballot statewide. Voters have rejected two previous plans.

The new plan retains the 96-member House and 33-member Senate but redraws lines in some cases to make districts more nearly equal in population. The makeup of the State Apportionment Board is increased from three to five members.

Bad Check Case Bound to Jury

Charged with passing a check made to a non-existing bank account, William Gilbert, 22, of 369 Weldon Ave., was bound to Pickaway County Grand Jury Thursday under $500 bond.

Gilbert pleaded guilty to the charge. Charges allege on Tuesday Gilbert passed a check for $15.79 drawn on the Second National Bank, Circleville, to Bingham Drug Store, "knowing he had no account."

Circleville Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb bound Gilbert over to Grand Jury, which will meet Sept. 6.

Sue Valentine, Stoutsville, was charged in Circleville Municipal Court Friday with passing a check drawn from an account with insufficient funds.

On May 23 she cashed a check for $15 at Ward's Royal Blue Store. The check drawn on Second National Bank, was returned stating funds could not cover it.

Judge Lamb fined her $50 and costs, suspending the fine and ordering her to pay the amount of the check.

Negroes Jeer

heading a third-party presidential ticket in 1968, although King has been cool to the idea.

The rally in the Coliseum was the official opening of the convention, following 2½ days of pre-convention activity — including a marathon black-only caucus that led to formation of the splinter group. Negro actor Ossie Davis was the rally's master of ceremonies and other speakers included comedian Dick Gregory and chaplain William Sloan Coffin of Yale University.

King's late-night speech was greeted with a standing ovation. Shortly after he began to talk, the group in the back of the coliseum became noisy. Its members, who were taking up a collection to pay fines for a group arrested during a demonstration, began buttonholing passersby and demanding loudly, "Would you white liberals like to contribute for our black brothers' freedom?"

King's speech concentrated on the Vietnam war and lack of attention to the problems of cities and Negroes in the nation.

"The inexorable decay of our urban centers has flared into terrifying domestic conflict as the pursuit of foreign war absorbs our wealth and energy," he said.

"If the will of the people continues to be unheeded, all men of good will must create a situation in which the 1967-68 elections are made a referendum on the war," he said. "The American people must have an opportunity to vote into oblivion those who cannot detach themselves from militarism."

King did not make any reference to the proposal that he run for president.

Dr. Benjamin Spock, authority on children's medicine who advocates a U.S. pullout in Vietnam, has been proposed as King's running mate. Spock told a news conference Thursday he would accept a draft for the position, but felt it was not likely to come.

"It will be truly a one-stop shopping mecca," Leohner stated, "where quality merchandise at everyday low prices will be the rule." Most departments in the store will be semi-self-serve with checkout counters at the front of the store he added.

Buckeye Mart Stores are a division of the Cussins and Fearn Co. Inc., and Ohio Corporation with the home office and warehouse in Columbus. The Company operates 21 Cussins and Fearn Stores, 15 Buckeye Mart Stores and 2 B-Mart Drugstores throughout Ohio.

"Cussins and Fearn has operated in Circleville since 1928," Leohner said, "and this new Buckeye Mart demonstrates our faith in the people and future growth of Circleville."

The new department store will create many new jobs for local and surrounding area people which will also reflect favorably upon the local economy, the J. H. Butt Co. Chillicothe, has received contracts for construction of the building.

Sex Education Revolutionized

NEW YORK (AP) — In some devout households in grandfathers' day, the Bible that rested on the living room shelf had certain sections of pages glued firmly together—to protect the innocent from bluntly sexual passages.

But things have changed. Today, sex is an open subject in the churches, as it is in Scriptures, with greatly increased attention being given to it in an effort to provide sound guidance in an age of veering sex influences—and attitudes.

Modern culture has flooded youth "with sexual symbols and erotic stimuli that gave a distorted view of sexuality in the meaning of a person's life," says the Rev. Dr. Richard Evenson of Minnesota, parish education director of the American Lutheran Church.

Outlining new sex education materials being issued by the denomination for young people, he said that present-day conditions have put an urgent obligation on churches to provide forthright teaching in that field.

American Roman Catholicism, through its Family Life Bureau, of Washington, D.C., also recently disclosed plans for a wide-scale program of sex education for use in homes, schools and parishes.

"We have a particularly challenging responsibility facing us," said the Rev. James McHugh, the bureau's director.

"The Second Vatican Council strongly urged that every child be given a positive education in sexuality as part of the formative process by which he becomes increasingly aware of his personal identity and Christian responsibility," he added.

As major religious bodies, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, shift from the "hush-hush" to a plain-spoken handling of the subject, many scholars say the old negative approach may have added to present-day chaos on the matter.

This was the conclusion of a World Council of Churches consultation three years ago. It said positive teaching about "the sexual dimension of life as part of God's creation" is a pressing duty of the churches.

That also was the direct approach of the Bible.

Scriptures are not "prissy or evasive on sex," writes the Rev. William Luther White, Methodist chaplain at Illinois Wesleyan University, even though churches at times have tended to treat bodily functions as a degrading necessity.

"But this view comes not from the Bible, but from the Greek world," he added in the Methodist monthly, Together. "In Biblical thought, the whole physical life of man is basically good. It is a gift of God to be used for His glory."

The move toward more forthright teaching about sex, under way in numerous Catholic dioceses and in Protestant publications and courses, was spurred by widespread indications of a crumbling of sexual standards—the so-called "sex revolution."

Church teaching materials, although dealing more openly with sex, stick consistently to the idea that intercourse outside wedlock is wrong and a violation of fidelity to future marriage partnership.

Even a controversial study report last year to the British Council of Churches upheld that general view, although its sympathetic treatment of exceptions to it drew a rebuke from the council.

Father Curran Main Speaker

Teachers from St. Joseph's Elementary School in Circleville are to attend the three-day Ohio Catholic Educational Convention Sept. 28-30 in Cincinnati.

Featured speaker at the convention will be the Rev. Charles Curran, who will speak on "The Christian Conscience."

Father Curran made headlines last year when he was dismissed from the faculty of Catholic University without a hearing. As a result the entire faculty walked away from the university.

The result of the controversy saw Father Curran reinstated and since then named associate professor of the Moral Theology Department of Catholic University.

More than 15,000 educators are expected to attend the convention.

Funeral Wreath Offered for Museum Status

NEW YORK (AP) — The wreath was an expensive job, done in 10 colors with the word "Henry" on the ribbon. It was ordered for a museum statue. "We are completely mystified—I think it's a riot," said a spokesman for the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The florist who made up the wreath said the man who ordered it did not leave his name but directed that it be delivered "to the foot of the great Roman statue in the south end of the Great Hall."

Museum guards turned aside the delivery boy when he arrived with the wreath Thursday morning.

Explained the spokesman: "It's standard procedure. Our statues do not accept funeral wreaths."

Sex Education Revolutionized

NEW YORK (AP) — In some devout households in grandfather's day, the Bible that rested on the living room shelf had certain sections of pages glued firmly together—to protect the innocent from bluntly sexual passages.

But things have changed. Today, sex is an open subject in the churches, as it is in Scriptures, with greatly increased attention being given to it in an effort to provide sound guidance in an age of veering sex influences—and attitudes.

Modern culture has flooded youth "with sexual symbols and erotic stimuli that gave a distorted view of sexuality in the meaning of a person's life," says the Rev. Dr. Richard Evans of Minnesota, parish education director of the American Lutheran Church.

Outlining new sex education materials being issued by the denomination for young people, he said that present-day conditions have put an urgent obligation on churches to provide forthright teaching in that field.

American Roman Catholicism, through its Family Life Bureau, of Washington, D.C., also recently disclosed plans for a wide-scale program of sex education for use in homes, schools and parishes.

"We have a particularly challenging responsibility facing us," said the Rev. James McHugh, the bureau's director.

"The Second Vatican Council strongly urged that every child be given a positive education in sexuality as part of the formative process by which he becomes increasingly aware of his personal identity and Christian responsibility," he added.

As major religious bodies, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, shift from the "hush-hush" to a plain-spoken handling of the subject, many scholars say the old negative approach may have added to present-day chaos on the matter.

This was the conclusion of a World Council of Churches consultation three years ago. It said positive teaching about "the sexual dimension of life as part of God's creation" is a pressing duty of the churches.

That also was the direct approach of the Bible.

Scriptures are not "prissy or evasive on sex," writes the Rev. William Luther White, Methodist chaplain at Illinois Wesleyan University, even though churches at times have tended to treat bodily functions as a degrading necessity.

"But this view comes not from the Bible, but from the Greek world," he added in the Methodist monthly, Together. "In Biblical thought, the whole physical life of man is basically good. It is a gift of God to be used for His glory."

The move toward more forthright teaching about sex, under way in numerous Catholic dioceses and in Protestant publications and courses, was spurred by widespread indications of a crumbling of sexual standards—the so-called "sex revolution."

Church teaching materials, although dealing more openly with sex, stick consistently to the idea that intercourse outside wedlock is wrong and a violation of fidelity to future marriage partnership.

Even a controversial study report last year to the British Council of Churches upheld that general view, although its sympathetic treatment of exceptions to it drew a rebuke from the council.

Father Curran Main Speaker

Teachers from St. Joseph's Elementary School in Circleville are to attend the three-day Ohio Catholic Educational Convention Sept. 28-30 in Cincinnati.

Featured speaker at the convention will be the Rev. Charles Curran, who will speak on "The Christian Conscience."

Father Curran made headlines last year when he was dismissed from the faculty of Catholic University without a hearing. As a result the entire faculty walked away from the university.

The result of the controversy saw Father Curran reinstated and since then named associate professor of the Moral Theology Department of Catholic University.

More than 15,000 educators are expected to attend the convention.

Funeral Wreath Offered for Museum Status

NEW YORK (AP) — The wreath was an expensive job, done in 10 colors with the word "Henry" on the ribbon. It was ordered for a museum statue.

"We are completely mystified—I think it's a riot," said a spokesman for the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The florist who made up the wreath said the man who ordered it did not leave his name but directed that it be delivered "to the foot of the great Roman statue in the south end of the Great Hall."

Museum guards turned aside the delivery boy when he arrived with the wreath Thursday morning.

Explained the spokesman: "It's standard procedure. Our statues do not accept funeral wreaths."

The Enemy Isn't a Party

The FBI has its eyes on the National Conference for a New Politics meeting that is about to convene in Chicago, for the Communist Party and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee have been out drumming up delegates who can be counted on to give it that extra-radical tinge. But whether the Communists succeed in packing the meeting or not is immaterial. They have become the complaisant followers, not the leaders, of the radical push outside the Soviet Union and the east European bloc, and they are apparently content to have it that way. The National Conference for a New Politics will be radical enough to suit them anyway.

The new Moscow line is to preserve discipline at home, but to let the wild men take over abroad. This marks a subtle change since the times of Lenin and Stalin, when the Communist emphasis was on discipline both inside and outside Russia. The Lenin theory, first formulated in 1903 when the Bolsheviks organized in a tight phalanx to fight the looseness of the Social Democrats, was to trust no one but the trained revolutionists who were willing to cross every "t" and dot every "i" in the party line. The Bolshevik theory permitted immorality and illegality when dealing with the class enemy. But it insisted on a Puritan discipline within the party itself, which amounted to a special morality.

The success of Cuba's Fidel Castro, who, though a Leninist in his own eyes, has always put himself above party discipline, seems to have had a very definite impact on Communist international theory. Castro proved that guerrillas could capture a revolution while the disciplined Communists were still waiting for a go-ahead signal. After the victory over the Batista dictatorship, Castro took the orthodox Communists into his party instead of the other way around. The Soviets, grateful for a revolutionary anti-Yankee Cuba, let it go that way. Though the Russians have a military force in Cuba, they have not seen fit to pull a tight rein on Fidel.

The tight rein isn't being pulled.

Yesterday's Answer

troism, and the split between Red China and Russia, theorists such as George Kennan have deduced that Communism is on the decline as a world menace. It is, so the assumption goes, perishing of fragmentation. Perhaps, in a pure Leninist sense, it is. But I find this faint consolation. A world of variegated guerrilla madness turns the old international Cold War into a series of equally cold civil wars. Twenty years ago you could keep your face to the sound of the guns without being worried about being stabbed in the back. The local U. S. Communists could be identified; the FBI, penetrating their organizations, learned who were the hard core revolutionists and who were the dupes. The House Un-American Activities Committee could turn up usable evidence, and Senator Joe McCarthy, though he was careless in his arithmetic and in his interpretation of the experts' material, was at least facing a knowable foe.

Today the enemy is not a party, it is a state of mind. And official Communist leader Gus Hall is much less dangerous than a lot of non-Communists who just want to burn America down.

Sweden is currently undergoing the business of learning to drive on the right side of the road instead of, as was the rule up to now, on the left. Proponents of the switch predict it'll be a great success — though definitely not a smashing one.

The switch involves some 1.5 million drivers. In fact, it's Sweden's biggest changeover since that country split with Norway in 1905 and both nations decided to go it solo.

Status Is Very Important

NEW YORK (AP) — What is your status?

Having status in America is as important as saving face is in the Orient.

Without it you're a rimless human zero, a nothing, as undistinguished as a flyspeck in a Bowery restaurant. You have no more impact on the world than a figure in a wax museum.

But with status you're a somebody. You make echoes. In time they may even throw you a testimonial dinner at which you can eat for nothing.

Since status is so important, naturally a fellow worries about achieving it and keeping it. It's the only way he can judge how he's faring in the modern rat race.

But how can a man tell whether his status is slipping? Here are a few warning signs that indicate you're on the way to becoming the low man on the totem pole:

The boss fidgets and looks the other way when you try to brighten up a dull conference with a funny story.

You have trouble keeping cockroaches out of the briefcase in which you carry your lunch to work.

When you want to play golf, you always have to call somebody else up because nobody ever calls you.

The office boy generally delivers your mail to the wrong desk—he hasn't taken the trouble to find out who you are.

If you're an executive, the personnel department invariably tries to palm off the homeliest secretary on you.

When they send a memo around to be initialed by everyone on the staff, your initials are invariably near the bottom of the list.

At the country club the veteran bartender never tells you any juicy gossip about the other members.

If there's a convivial gang gathered around the office water cooler, they break up when you approach.

If you compliment the minister on his Sunday sermon, he quickly lets go of your hands and looks over your head to see what the person standing behind you thought of it.

You've conscientiously attended PTA meetings for five full years, rain or shine, but have yet to be asked to serve on a committee.

None of your coworkers ever tries to borrow or lend you money, aspirin tablets or paper clips.

If you switch to a new kind of shave lotion, not even your wife notices you smell different.

If you go to a masked ball, nobody wants to talk to you after you take your mask off.

Yep, those are sure warning signals that you are on the skids, socially and every other way. What can you do?

Well, anybody who has lost that much status can never really regain it. Maybe the solution for you is to move to the Far East—and try to save face.

The Enemy Isn't a Party

The FBI has its eyes on the National Conference for a New Politics meeting that is about to convene in Chicago, for the Communist Party and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee have been out drumming up delegates who can be counted on to give it that extra-radical tinge. But whether the Communists succeed in packing the meeting or not is immaterial. They have become the complaisant followers, not the leaders, of the radical push outside the Soviet Union and the east European bloc, and they are apparently content to have it that way. The National Conference for a New Politics will be radical enough to suit them anyway.

The new Moscow line is to preserve discipline at home, but to let the wild men take over abroad. This marks a subtle change since the times of Lenin and Stalin, when the Communist emphasis was on discipline both inside and outside Russia. The Lenin theory, first formulated in 1903 when the Bolsheviks organized in a tight phalanx to fight the looseness of the Social Democrats, was to trust no one but the trained revolutionaries who were willing to cross every "t" and dot every "i" in the party line. The Bolshevik theory permitted immorality and illegality when dealing with the class enemy. But it insisted on a Puritan discipline within the party itself, which amounted to a special morality.

The success of Cuba's Fidel Castro, who, though a Leninist in his own eyes, has always put himself above party discipline, seems to have had a very definite impact on Communist international theory. Castro proved that guerrillas could capture a revolution while the disciplined Communists were still waiting for a go-ahead signal. After the victory over the Batista dictatorship, Castro took the orthodox Communists into his party instead of the other way around. The Soviets, grateful for a revolutionary anti-Yankee Cuba, let it go that way. Though the Russians have a military force in Cuba, they have not seen fit to pull a tight rein on Fidel.

The tight rein isn't being pulled.

troism, and the split between Red China and Russia, theorists such as George Kennan have deduced that Communism is on the decline as a world menace. It is, so the assumption goes, perishing of fragmentation. Perhaps, in a pure Leninist sense, it is. But I find this faint consolation. A world of variegated guerrilla madness turns the old international Cold War into a series of equally cold civil wars. Twenty years ago you could keep your face to the sound of the guns without being worried about being stabbed in the back. The local U. S. Communists could be identified; the FBI, penetrating their organizations, learned who were the hard core revolutionists and who were the dupes. The House Un-American Activities Committee could turn up usable evidence, and Senator Joe McCarthy, though he was careless in his arithmetic and in his interpretation of the experts' material, was at least facing a knowable foe.

Today the enemy is not a party, it is a state of mind. And official Communist leader Gus Hall is much less dangerous than a lot of non-Communists who just want to burn America down.

Sweden is currently undergoing the business of learning to drive on the right side of the road instead of, as was the rule up to now, on the left. Proponents of the switch predict it'll be a great success — though definitely not a smashing one.

The switch involves some 1.5 million drivers. In fact, it's Sweden's biggest changeover since that country split with Norway in 1905 and both nations decided to go it solo.

Congressman Is Fighting Farm Bureau Federation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., has spent at least $5,000 of his own money on his one-man investigation of the American Farm Bureau Federation, aides said today.
The stenographic record alone of Resnick's current hearing is costing him $300 a day, they said.
In addition to the Washington hearing, in its fourth day today, hearings were held earlier in Chicago and Omaha, Neb.
Resnick is chairman of a House agriculture subcommittee, but the Agriculture Committee has disassociated itself from his inquiry. Under such circumstances, no committee funds may be used to pay for the costs of the hearing or to reimburse witnesses for their expenses.
One witness, Mrs. Norma Williams of Ashland County, Ohio, said Wednesday more than 100 farmers chipped in to pay her way to Washington.
Mrs. Williams, who operates a 77-acre farm, told Resnick that as far as she knew all of those who backed her trip are shareholders in the local Farm Bureau cooperative in Ashland county.
But, she said, they endorse her criticisms of the Farm Bureau's retail activities and her belief that the Farm Bureau is not the proper organization to take over marketing and bargaining for American farmers.
Resnick contends the tax-exempt Farm Bureau is not representative of the farmer but is a nationwide network of insurance firms and has financial interests in petroleum products, animal feed, fertilizers, chemicals and other commercial activities.
'Unclear' Research
Project of Botanist
MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Dr. Norton H. Nickerson, a Tufts University botanist, sometimes works in a shed on which there is a sign that reads: "Institute of Unclear Research."
He said it was supposed to read "nuclear research" and he keeps it because "it was simply too good to let die."

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought
The Day will be revealed with fire, and the fire will test what sort of work each one has done. Destruction is decreed, overflowing with righteousness. For the Lord of hosts will make a full end, as decreed, in the midst of the earth. Even now the axe is laid to the root of the trees; every tree therefore that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. You know how to interpret the appearance of earth and sky; but why do you not know how to interpret the present time? Is not my word like fire, says the Lord? (Excerpts from The Holy Bible.)
German Shepherd Helps Keep Peace
NEWBERG, Ore. (AP) — When the librarian at the Newberg Library says, "Quiet," no one makes a sound. She keeps her German shepherd near her to help with discipline.
Besides, she says, "having a dog curled up at your feet while you are reading a good book is much more relaxing and more like being at home."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Look closely . . . in this picture a man is risking his life!

Congressman Is Fighting
Farm Bureau Federation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep.
Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., has spent at least $5,000 of his own money on his one-man investigation of the American Farm Bureau Federation, aides said today.
The stenographic record alone of Resnick's current hearing is costing him $300 a day, they said.
In addition to the Washington hearing, in its fourth day today, hearings were held earlier in Chicago and Omaha, Neb.
Resnick is chairman of a House agriculture subcommittee, but the Agriculture Committee has disassociated itself from his inquiry. Under such circumstances, no committee funds may be used to pay for the costs of the hearing or to reimburse witnesses for their expenses.
One witness, Mrs. Norma Williams of Ashland County, Ohio, said Wednesday more than 100 farmers chipped in to pay her way to Washington.
Mrs. Williams, who operates a 77-acre farm, told Resnick that as far as she knew all of those who backed her trip are shareholders in the local Farm Bureau cooperative in Ashland county.
But, she said, they endorse her criticisms of the Farm Bureau's retail activities and her belief that the Farm Bureau is not the proper organization to take over marketing and bargaining for American farmers.
Resnick contends the tax-exempt Farm Bureau is not representative of the farmer but is a nationwide network of insurance firms and has financial interests in petroleum products, animal feed, fertilizers, chemicals and other commercial activities.
'Unclear' Research
Project of Botanist
MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) —
Dr. Norton H. Nickerson, a Tufts University botanist, sometimes works in a shed on which there is a sign that reads: "Institute of Unclear Research."
He said it was supposed to read "nuclear research" and he keeps it because "it was simply too good to let die."

Local Baho'i Group Lists Weekly Thought
The Day will be revealed with fire, and the fire will test what sort of work each one has done.
Destruction is decreed, overflowing with righteousness. For the Lord of hosts will make a full end, as decreed, in the midst of the earth. Even now the axe is laid to the root of the trees; every tree therefore that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. You know how to interpret the appearance of earth and sky; but why do you not know how to interpret the present time? Is not my word like fire, says the Lord? (Excerpts from The Holy Bible.)

When the librarian at the New-berg Library says, "Quiet," no one makes a sound. She keeps her German shepherd near her to help with discipline.
Besides, she says, "having a dog curled up at your feet while you are reading a good book is much more relaxing and more like being at home."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Steeplejack

Look closely . . . in this picture a man is risking his life!
An old and respected trade is his. It had its beginning centuries ago when Christianity first began to express its devotion in unique forms of architecture. How could Christians proclaim constantly their faith in Christ? How could they lift the eyes of others to behold the Lord of Life?
Soon, over gabled village roofs rose gleaming spires. And men who tilled the fields, and men who trod the lanes, rejoiced to behold the symbol of Faith.
Then one day cities replaced villages . . . skyscrapers dwarfed the spires of God. And so, on the day this picture was taken, ten thousand people passed by and never raised their eyes. Only a few looked upward and thought in mild surprise, "Why, isn't that a man way up there on the steeple?"
Yes. A MAN. One of hundreds of millions whose skill and courage continue to be needed as the Church fulfills its mission.
Maybe your church doesn't have a steeple. But it has a task to challenge your skills . . . your courage.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Tell Mother Gifts Cause Home Fights

DEAR ABBY: My mother sends our children big gifts every year for their birthdays, and she also sends my brother and me a birthday card with $20 enclosed, but she NEVER sends our wives anything. This makes them feel hurt, and starts fights in our homes.

It's not that mother doesn't know when her daughters-in-law's birthdays are because we know she does.

What can we do to keep peace in the family?

THE BROTHERS FOUR
DEAR BROTHERS: You could let your mother know that

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, Sept. 1, the 244th day of 1967. There are 121 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1939, Germany invaded Poland at the beginning of World War II.

On this date: In 1682, the English Quaker, William Penn, sailed for America.

In 1807, Revolutionary War officer Aaron Burr was acquitted in his trial for treason.

In 1923, the Japanese cities of Tokyo and Yokohama were devastated by an earthquake.

In 1945, Japan surrendered aboard the battleship Missouri at the end of World War II.

In 1946, the people of Greece voted in a plebiscite to recall King George II.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower said in a Labor Day statement: "More Americans are holding jobs and enjoying security than ever before."

Meet Scheduled By Esther Circle

Esther Circle of Trinity Lutheran Church will meet 7:45 p. m. Tuesday in the church parlor.

your wives are "hurt" at being overlooked on their birthdays, which would probably produce some forced and therefore insincere gifts.

For your mother to slight your wives deliberately is small. But it does not justify "fights" in your homes. A wise and considerate wife would not hold her husband responsible for what his mother does, or does not do.

DEAR ABBY: I know this letter has a very slim chance of getting in the paper, but with your answer it will surely help other teen-agers with aunt problems.

My aunt (I'll call her Peggy) brings her two children (ages 4 and 6) to our house every Tuesday and Thursday, then she and my mother take off and play golf, leaving my sister and me to baby sit with the children.

My sister and I are sick of it, and we told our mom to tell Aunt Peggy that we are going to start charging her for baby sitting. My mother said "Don't get smart."

So my sister and I are going to tell Aunt Peggy ourselves. What do you think of this? Maybe we owe our mother the task of baby sitting, but not our aunt. I am 14 and my sister is 13 and we have other things planned for those days. What is your advice?

TWO SISTERS

DEAR SISTERS: If your mother's reaction to your complaint was, "Don't get smart," I don't recommend complaining to your aunt. I agree, you are being taken advantage of, but occasionally we must all put up with situations which require us to give more than we get.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged widow who is very much in love with a widower my own age who claims he loves me, too (I'll call him George.) We both lost our mates within the past three years.

George has a 20-year-old daughter who resents me. George says his daughter hasn't anything against me, personally, that she would resent any woman her father showed an interest in.

I would like to marry this man, but how can I work around his daughter? He will not marry without his daughter's blessings.

INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: How the daughter feels about you is relatively unimportant. How does George feel about you? If his daughter's unjust resentment is keeping him from marrying you, who needs him? He and his daughter deserve each other.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PINKY: The proof of the pudding is not always in the eating. It's whether he comes back for seconds. A lot of very mediocre puddings has been consumed for lack of choice.

Store Owner Shocked By Intruding Police

CINCINNATI (AP)—Jerry Creelman is not so sure it was a good idea to spend Wednesday night in his photo shop with his sick dog.

The way Creelman tells it, the dog started barking. He got up to see what was the matter — and ran into a group of policemen with drawn revolvers.

The police said they heard noises in the shop and thought it was being burglarized. When Creelman explained the situation, the police left. The photographer said no harm was done except that he was "scared to death."

Practical Education Is Work Project of AAUW

EDITOR'S NOTE — Following is the first article presenting information of the American Association of University Women. It is part of a series giving detailed accounts of local area women's clubs and organizations.

The American Association of University Women was founded in 1882 to open the doors of education to women and to unite alumnae of different institutions for "practical educational work."

Today through its program AAUW enables members to continue their intellectual growth, to further the advancement of women and to discharge their special responsibility to society.

AAUW members number more than 155,000 organized in over 1500 branches in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and Guam. AAUW lists over 800 American colleges and universities whose women graduates are eligible for association membership.

The Ohio Division was organized in 1924. There are more than 70 branches and over 8500 members. The Ohio Division acts as a liaison between the association and the local branch.

The AAUW Educational Foundation was founded in 1958 to expand AAUW's primary emphasis on educational work and to facilitate building of endowments for fellowships and research.

The Educational Center, a modern eight-story building in the nation's capital, serves as a focal point for AAUW and as a meeting place for university women in the United States and from all parts of the world. Built in 1959-60, the center houses a library and a professional staff of twenty, headed by Dr. Blanche H. Dowe, general director. This staff provides guidance to the branches as they study local problems, inform themselves on national and international problems.

International, AAUW holds membership in the International Federation of University Women which unites associations in 52 lands. The IFUW is a vital force for international understanding, providing contacts for university women of many countries and opportunities for united action on common goals.

The Amanda Methodist Church was the site on Aug. 11, for the wedding of Miss Judy Ann Rhymer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rhymer, Amanda, to Roger Roy Guisinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Guisinger, Route 2, Amanda.

The double ring ceremony was read at 7:30 p. m. by the Rev. Orville Farmer, before an altar decorated with gold vases containing white gladioli.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a silk bombazine and scalloped Chantilly lace floor-length gown with jeweled lace outlining the scalloped neckline, long sleeves extended to points over her hands. The full skirt of ruffled lace and bombazine featured a wide detachable train held at the shoulders with silk bows and sweeping into a full train. Her elbow length veil of tulle fell from a pearl Victorian crown. She carried a white satin covered Bible, topped with white carnations.

Miss Karen Sue Rhymer, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a blue floor-length gown with a blue and white tinted corsage.

John Bowman was best man with Terry Walters and Rick Williams seating the guests.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Tell Mother Gifts Cause Home Fights

DEAR ABBY: My mother sends our children big gifts every year for their birthdays, and she also sends my brother and me a birthday card with $20 enclosed, but she NEVER sends our wives anything. This makes them feel hurt, and starts fights in our homes.

It's not that mother doesn't know when her daughters-in-law's birthdays are because we know she does.

What can we do to keep peace in the family?

THE BROTHERS FOUR
DEAR BROTHERS: You could let your mother know that

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Sept. 1, the 244th day of 1967. There are 121 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1939, Germany invaded Poland at the beginning of World War II.

On this date:

In 1682, the English Quaker, William Penn, sailed for America.

In 1807, Revolutionary War officer Aaron Burr was acquitted in his trial for treason.

In 1923, the Japanese cities of Tokyo and Yokohama were devastated by an earthquake.

In 1945, Japan surrendered aboard the battleship Missouri at the end of World War II.

In 1946, the people of Greece voted in a plebiscite to recall King George II.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower said in a Labor Day statement: "More Americans are holding jobs and enjoying security than ever before."

Meet Scheduled By Esther Circle

Esther Circle of Trinity Lutheran Church will meet 7:45 p. m. Tuesday in the church parlor.

your wives are "hurt" at being overlooked on their birthdays, which would probably produce some forced and therefore insincere gifts.

For your mother to slight your wives deliberately is small. But it does not justify "fights" in your homes. A wise and considerate wife would not hold her husband responsible for what his mother does, or does not do.

DEAR ABBY: I know this letter has a very slim chance of getting in the paper, but with your answer it will surely help other teen-agers with aunt problems.

My aunt (I'll call her Peggy) brings her two children (ages 4 and 6) to our house every Tuesday and Thursday, then she and my mother take off and play golf, leaving my sister and me to baby sit with the children.

My sister and I are sick of it, and we told our mom to tell Aunt Peggy that we are going to start charging her for baby sitting. My mother said "Don't get smart."

So my sister and I are going to tell Aunt Peggy ourselves. What do you think of this? Maybe we owe our mother the task of baby sitting, but not our aunt. I am 14 and my sister is 13 and we have other things planned for those days. What is your advice?

TWO SISTERS
DEAR SISTERS: If your mother's reaction to your complaint was, "Don't get smart," I don't recommend complaining to your aunt. I agree, you are being taken advantage of, but occasionally we must all put up with situations which require us to give more than we get.

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged widow who is very much in love with a widower my own age who claims he loves me, too (I'll call him George). We both lost our mates within the past three years.

George has a 20-year-old daughter who resents me. George says his daughter hasn't anything against me, personally, that she would resent any woman her father showed an interest in.

I would like to marry this man, but how can I work around his daughter? He will not marry without his daughter's blessings.

INTERESTED
DEAR INTERESTED: How the daughter feels about you is relatively unimportant. How does George feel about you? If his daughter's unjust resentment is keeping him from marrying you, who needs him? He and his daughter deserve each other.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PINKY:
The proof of the pudding is not always in the eating. It's whether he comes back for seconds. A lot of very mediocre puddings have been consumed for lack of choice.

Store Owner Shocked By Intruding Police

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jerry Creelman is not so sure it was a good idea to spend Wednesday night in his photo shop with his sick dog.

The way Creelman tells it, the dog started barking. He got up to see what was the matter — and ran into a group of policemen with drawn revolvers.

The police said they heard noises in the shop and thought it was being burglarized. When Creelman explained the situation, the police left. The photographer said no harm was done except that he was "scared to death."

Practical Education Is Work Project of AAUW

EDITOR'S NOTE — Following is the first article presenting information of the American Association of University Women. It is part of a series giving detailed accounts of local area women's clubs and organizations.

The American Association of University Women was founded in 1882 to open the doors of education to women and to unite alumnae of different institutions for "practical educational work."

Today through its program AAUW enables members to continue their intellectual growth, to further the advancement of women and to discharge their special responsibility to society.

AAUW members number more than 155,000 organized in over 1500 branches in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and Guam. AAUW lists over 800 American colleges and universities whose women graduates are eligible for association membership.

The Ohio Division was organized in 1924. There are more than 70 branches and over 8500 members. The Ohio Division acts as a liaison between the association and the local branch.

The AAUW Educational Foundation was founded in 1958 to expand AAUW's primary emphasis on educational work and to facilitate building of endowments for fellowships and research.

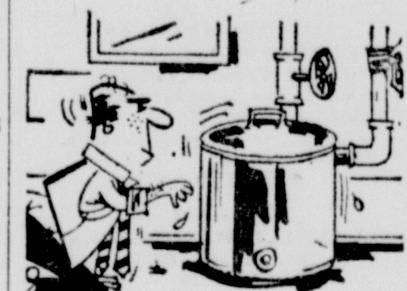

The Educational Center, a

modern eight-story building in the nation's capital, serves as a focal point for AAUW and as a meeting place for university women in the United States and from all parts of the world. Built in 1959-60, the center houses a library and a professional staff of twenty, headed by Dr. Blanche H. Dove, general director. This staff provides guidance to the branches as they study local problems, inform themselves on national and international problems.

International, AAUW holds membership in the International Federation of University Women which unites associations in 52 lands. The IFUW is a vital force for international understanding, providing contacts for university women of many countries and opportunities for united action on common goals.

Rigney Quote Irks Tribe; McDowell Hurls Tonight

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Manager Joe Adcock is playing the old game of tack up quot's on the bulletin board.

Adcock has put up a clipping from a Long Beach newspaper and circled this paragraph:

"When we lose to the Indians I feel like fining every one of my players."

The quotes are attributed to California Angels' Manager Bill Rigney and his club provides the opposition against the Cleveland Indians tonight.

Adcock wants to make sure all his players read the story. It was written after Sam Mc-Dowell beat the Angels, 2-1, on a six-hitter in Cleveland last Thursday.

It was only the fourth Cleveland victory against the Angels in 15 games.

McDowell (11-11) will pitch tonight against Curt Simmons (1-1).

The Indians sold outfielder Don Demeter Thursday to the Detroit Tigers and signed a 6-foot-3 first baseman and outfielder, Dennis Brady, of Lafayette, Ind.

Also, the Tribe called up outfielder, Bill Davis from the Gulf Coast League Team in Sarasota, Fla. He will report Monday.

British King Takes Lead In Tourney

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Some phrases and words, most unprintable, to enrich golfdom's colorful vocabulary are flowing from the 67th U.S. Amateur Championship over the Broadmoor West's fog-bound, wind-blown, water-logged links.

Bob Dickson of McAlester, Okla., the reigning British Amateur king, was gracious and happy after posting his one-over par 71 to take a three-stroke lead in Thursday's partly completed first round.

Consequently his original contribution to golf grammar was negligible.

Bristling, descriptive phrases about the mountain-rimmed 6,946-yard par 35-35-70 course cascaded from the lips of players like former champion Bob Murphy — a 77 shooter — and Bill Harvey, the 36-year-old Dixie Amateur champion.

Murphy, the 1965 winner of this tourney from Nichols, Fla., opened his post-round discussion with sportswriters by throwing his shoes across the locker room.

But then every player coming off the misty, fog-shrouded course into the locker room first yanked off his soaked shoes and socks.

That seemed to release some of the frustrations accumulated during three interruptions in play caused by drifting clouds of fog that blanked out the greens and fairways at various times during a trying day.

Harvey's graphic opinions reflected his sentiments after posting a 78 to replace his 71 score which led Wednesday's opening round until it was washed out.

Better things were promised today for the second round. The Weather Bureau forecast clearing skies and a high of around 60 that blanked out the fog from Thursday.

Bearcats Lose Two Gridders

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two potential first stringers on the University of Cincinnati football team have been dropped from the squad.

Homer Rice, the Bearcats' new head coach, said Thursday flanker back John Mail of Middletown failed to meet scholastic standards in summer school and tailback Mel Carter of Cleveland has dropped out of school. Both were sophomores.

The Bearcats opened practice Thursday with a 70-man team.

Chi Chi Rodriguez of San Juan, P.R., was the lightest competitor in the recent U.S. Open. He weighs only 116 pounds.

Boros Is Among Carling Choices

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (AP) — Not many men can earn upwards of $120,000 a year, have plenty of time to spend with the family and enjoy a hobby, but easy-going Julius Boros is not like most athletes.

An elder statesman among the 200 players who battle it out each week for a slice of the $4,500,000 prize money at stake on the North American golf tour, Boros wears his success almost in anonymity.

The soft-spoken 6-footer seldom attracts much attention from fans until they suddenly see his name near the top of the list in the late-going. It will be the same when he tees off today in the first round of the $200,000 Carling World Championship at the hilly and tough 7,024-yard, par 36-35-71 Toronto Board of Trade Country Club.

Among other top stars in the field are Arnold Palmer, Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina, defending champion Bruce Devlin of Australia and 1964 winner Bobby Nichols, Billy Casper of San Diego, Calif., Gary Player of South Africa, Tommy Horton and Tony Jacklin of England.

Australian Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle, and Bob Charles of New Zealand and Canadians George Knudson and Al Balding.

Top prize is $35,000. The field will be cut to the low 75 and ties after 36 holes.

Rigney Quote Irks Tribe; McDowell Hurls Tonight

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Manager Joe Adcock is playing the old game of tack up quot's on the bulletin board. Adcock has put up a clipping from a Long Beach newspaper and circled this paragraph: "When we lose to the Indians I feel like fining every one of my players."

The quotes are attributed to California Angels' Manager Bill Rigney and his club provides the opposition against the Cleveland Indians tonight.

Adcock wants to make sure all his players read the story. It was written after Sam Mc-Dowell beat the Angels, 2-1, on a six-hitter in Cleveland last Thursday.

It was only the fourth Cleveland victory against the Angels in 15 games.

McDowell (11-11) will pitch tonight against Curt Simmons (1-1).

The Indians sold outfielder Don Demeter Thursday to the Detroit Tigers and signed a 6-foot-3 first baseman and outfielder, Dennis Brady, of Lafayette, Ind.

Also, the Tribe called up outfielder, Bill Davis from the Gulf Coast League Team in Sarasota, Fla. He will report Monday.

British King Takes Lead In Tourney

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Some phrases and words, most unprintable, to enrich golfdom's colorful vocabulary are flowing from the 67th U.S. Amateur Championship over the Broadmoor West's fog-bound, wind-blown, water-logged links.

Bob Dickson of McAlester, Okla., the reigning British Amateur king, was gracious and happy after posting his one-over par 71 to take a three-stroke lead in Thursday's partly completed first round.

Consequently his original contribution to golf grammar was negligible.

Bristling, descriptive phrases about the mountain-rimmed 6,946-yard par 35-35-70 course cascaded from the lips of players like former champion Bob Murphy — a 77 shooter — and Bill Harvey, the 36-year-old Dixie Amateur champion.

Murphy, the 1965 winner of this tourney from Nichols, Fla., opened his post-round discussion with sportswriters by throwing his shoes across the locker room.

But then every player coming off the misty, fog-shrouded course into the locker room first yanked off his soaked shoes and socks.

That seemed to release some of the frustrations accumulated during three interruptions in play caused by drifting clouds of fog that blanked out the greens and fairways at various times during a trying day.

Harvey's graphic opinions reflected his sentiments after posting a 78 to replace his 71 score which led Wednesday's opening round until it was washed out.

Better things were promised today for the second round. The Weather Bureau forecast clearing skies and a high of around 60 that blanked out the fog from Thursday.

Bearcats Lose Two Gridders

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two potential first stringers on the University of Cincinnati football team have been dropped from the squad.

Homer Rice, the Bearcats' new head coach, said Thursday flanker back John Mail of Middletown failed to meet scholastic standards in summer school and tailback Mel Carter of Cleveland has dropped out of school. Both were sophomores.

The Bearcats opened practice Thursday with a 70-man team.

Chi Chi Rodriguez of San Juan, P.R., was the lightest competitor in the recent U.S. Open. He weighs only 116 pounds.

Boros Is Among Carling Choices

WOODBRIIDGE, Ont. (AP) — Not many men can earn upwards of $120,000 a year, have plenty of time to spend with the family and enjoy a hobby, but easy-going Julius Boros is not like most athletes.

An elder statesman among the 200 players who battle it out each week for a slice of the $4,500,000 prize money at stake on the North American golf tour, Boros wears his success almost in anonymity.

The soft-spoken 6-footer seldom attracts much attention from fans until they suddenly see his name near the top of the list in the late-going. It will be the same when he tees off today in the first round of the $200,000 Carling World Championship at the hilly and tough 7,024-yard, par 36-35-71 Toronto Board of Trade Country Club.

Among other top stars in the field are Arnold Palmer, Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina, defending champion Bruce Devlin of Australia and 1964 winner Bobby Nichols, Billy Casper of San Diego, Calif., Gary Player of South Africa, Tommy Horton and Tony Jacklin of England, and Australian Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle, and Bob Charles of New Zealand and Canadians George Knudson and Al Balding.

Top prize is $35,000. The field will be cut to the low 75 and ties after 36 holes.

Soviet Analysis Is Right, Veteran Hippie Believes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Charlie Brown Artman, a veteran hippie and a "communicant with outer space beings," thinks the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia hit the nail on the head with its analysis of hippies.

Reading a story from Moscow quoting S. Kondrashov, Izvestia correspondent in New York, Artman said. "It was better than I could define or analyze it."

The article called hippie philosophy basically negative: "They know what to run away from but not in which direction to run," it said.

"That's true," said the bearded, long-haired Artman, "but it's not true of me and my friends and it's gradually changing for others. We're finding directions, but it's taking time. We're dropping the drop-out syndrome, substituting the positive 'turn on, tune in' outlook."

Wearing a necklace of lamb bones and a chain with an iron cross, and sporting a psychedelic colored sweater, Artman jangled some attached bells, hooked his bare feet on chair legs and let it be known he planned to run for the California legislature next year as a Republican.

Artman said American society has become corrupted by its riches and the Soviets could have hippies of their own because "they may become corrupted in the future when they become richer."

Draft Board To Accept I-Y Class

On Dec. 5, 1966, the Department of Defense initiated a program to accept volunteer enlistees who had certain physical defects that would have previously rejected them.

This program has now been broadened to include volunteers for induction.

Registrants who were determined unacceptable at the time of preinduction or induction processing due solely to certain minor medical conditions may now agree to medical treatment and be eligible for military service. These conditions are as follows: pilonidal cyst or sinus; hemorrhoids; undescended testicle; unilateral; varicocele; hydrocele; hernia of the abdominal cavity; over maximum weight not more than 15 per cent; and under minimum weight not more than 10 per cent.

Registrants examined prior to implementation of the Defense Department's "Medically Remedial Enlistment Program" and classified in Class I-Y, may volunteer for induction at the local board, provided the only cause for rejection was one of the remedial medical conditions shown above.

Authorization has been received, Paul T. Moore Chairman Pickaway Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee announced today, for farmers to graze diverted acres beginning September 1, 1967.

Producers who signed to divert acreage under the 1967 Feed Grain Program agreed not to graze this acreage prior to October 1. However, beginning September 1 all participants may graze their diverted acres without loss of program payments.

However this authorization does not permit the harvesting of hay on feed grain acres. If producers have any questions regarding this matter they should contact the local ASCS Office.

10 Million Stock Shares Sold Daily on Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Prosperity has exploded in Wall Street's face.

So much stock is being bought and sold by affluent individuals and institutions that the brokerage firms have been unable to keep up with the paperwork involved in the flood of transactions.

As a result, the New York and American stock exchanges and several regional exchanges shortened their daily trading periods by 90 minutes for nine days last month to give brokers' clerical staffs more time for their chores.

The American appetite for investing money in corporation stocks has reached tremendous proportions in recent years.

In the first half of this year, 1,234,398,860 shares changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange—a daily average of 9.8 million. This compared to the 1,039,045,404 shares traded in the 1966 first half for a daily average of 8.2 million.

Trading also has rocketed upward on the American Stock Exchange, regional exchanges and the over-the-counter market.

Back in 1926, volume on the New York exchange was 601 million shares for the year. By 1966 it had ballooned to 2,205,700,000.

The trading pace has more than doubled since 1959, when the total was 1,039,000,000 shares and the daily average 3.2 million.

Since 1952, the U.S. stockholder population has increased from 6 million to 22 million. These investors were part owners of nearly 7,000 companies.
